Get ready

Do a role-play.

(Jimmy is borrowing some books from Mandy.)

Mandy, may I borrow some books to read? Recently I've been interested in reading the classics.

Of course. I have many books. You can come to my home and pick whatever you like.

How many books do you have?

Uhh ... let me think. I had 25 books before my last birthday, and I bought 7 books this year. So that means I have 31 altogether.

Do you want to be Jimmy or Mandy?

Get ready

Do a role-play.

Are you sure? I don't think 25 plus 7 equals 31 ...

Sorry, that kind of addition is a bit tricky for me.

Well, 5 and 7 makes 12, and 12 plus 20 equals 32. So the sum must be 32.

Wow, I've got even more books than I thought!

Grammar

Practice and make sentences.

I bought 7 books this year.

did sth

过去做某事……

I had 16 books last year.

S1: Read one sentence.
S2: Repeat the sentence
in a louder voice.

2. Choose the right answers.

1 What's 34 plus 9?
A 41      B 42      C 43

2 75 and 6 makes _____.
A 71      B 81      C 91

3 4 and 66 equals _____.
A 71      B 70      C 72

Homework

1. Listen to the “Branch out” recording from Lesson 4 Part 2, then repeat it.
2. Do the math and write down the addition sentence. Share it with your partner next class.

e.g.

$13+18=$	31	13 plus 18 equals 31.
$36+25=$
$7+39=$
$18+48=$
$22+59=$
